NEW YORK, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1874.

THE LATEST RETURNS.

Increased Democratic Majorities from Every Direction.

PENNSYLVANIA LOOMING UP.

New York Gives Over 40,000 Majority for Tilden.

JOY IN WASHINGTON AND ELSEWHERE.

THE RESULT IN THE CITY.

The returns from the State come in alowly, but show gains in almost every county over the vote of last year for the Democratic candidates. Tilden's majority will not be less Eighteen Democratic Congressmen have cer-tainly been elected, with a probability of two more. The Democrats will have a majority in the Assembly sufficient to ensure the election on joint ballot of a United States Senator in the place of Reuben E. Fenton. In New Jersey Judge Bedle, the Democratic candidate for Governor, has 1,200 majority. A gain of three Congressmen is certain, and the majority in the lower house of the Legislature is sufficient to secure the election of a Democratte United States Senator. William Walter Phelps is probably re-elected to Congress by a majority of 12, several ballots which had been thrown out by the inspectors as irregular hav-ing since been placed to his credit. It is probabie, however, that his seat will be contested.

The Republicans claim Pennsylvania by from 10,000 to 15,000, but it is not conceded by the Democrats. The no orious Bill Mann is cer-tainly defeated, but efforts are being made to count him in. The D-mocrats gain three or four Congressmen. The Legislature will be Republican by a reduced majority.

Massachusetts, the home of D iwes and Butler, elects a Democratic Governor by upward of 7,000 majority, and five Democratic Congressmen, Benjamin F. Butler and J. Cathartic Ayers being among the defeated. The Legislature is Republican, but in favor of heense.

Michican is claimed by both parties. It is certain that the Democrats have elected four or five Congressmen, with a strong probability that they will secure the Legislature and defeat the return of Zach Chandler to the United States

Throughout the South the Conservatives have made large gains in Congressmen and secured pearly every State government. Nineteen States have unmistakably set their seal of condemnation upon the national Administration, and there will be an Opposition majority in the next House of Representatives of about forty.

Later telegrams from Bergen county claim that William Walter Phelps is elected to Congress, although the election returns give Cutler 8 majority. The sixteen tickets rejected at two politing districts in Bergen, because the name William was abbreviated "Wm," are claimed to be perfectly legal, as they had the name Walter Phelps attached and could not possibly be intended for any other person. Mr.
Phelps always writes his name that way. The election will doubtless be contested, but it is urged that under legal advice the judges will probably admit the tickets. These would elect Mr. Phelps by 12 votes.

Last night, in Tammany Hall, were played the first two games in the tournament arranged by Mr. M. Delaney to bring together the nine best known billiard experts in the country and to have their relative merits as players determined. At about 8 o'clock, the hall being half filled with spectators, many of them ladies, among whom was the widow of Michael Phelan, the players Ubassy, Rudolphe, Vignaud, Daly, the Dion brothers, Daniels, Garnier and Slosson entered and were warmly wel-

The opening game was between Joe and Cyrille Dion, and from the start was played with brilliancy, Cyrille's draw shots and Joe's nursing calling forth many evidences of admiration. In his sixth inning Joe scored 83, which was followed by Cyrille with 30, the latter having already made a pretty run of 28. In his next unning Joe mide 22, and the score stood 121 for Joe, 80 for Cyrille. After some very ordinary play in which small additions were made to either string, Cyrille ran 33, putting his score at 113, but in the tenth inning Joe increased the gap by scoring 64 by delicate nursing which would in we them, Joe showed great judgment. Cyrille had yet shown he broke up at 50 amid applause; whereupon Joe scored the needed 6 in his twelfth inning, having made the handsome average of 25. His best runs were 64, 83, and 103. Cyrille's score was 175; average, 14, 7, 12; highest runs, 30, 33, 50. Time of game, I nour, 6 bets of $7 to $10 were offered and taken that Joe Dion's average would not be beaten during the tournament.

The second game was between A. P. Rudolphe and Albert Garnier. The spectators were forced to wait several minutes for the former, who had at first refused to play owing to a misunderstanding. When Rudolphe appeared in the room he was hissed and cheered with vehemence, but he received all demonstrations of triendship and ill will with perfect sangfoid, and after looking about him for a Rudolphe won the lead and failed to score. Garnier made I. Rudolphe in his second inning scored 27, and Garnier 3. The third inning was valueless to Rudolphe, but to Garnier it was worth 34 points, in making which he displayed all the delicate skill that characterizes his play, although it was evident that he was somewhat nervous. In his fourth inning Rudolphe 60, Garnier 38, Rudolphe the score stood Rudolphe 60, Garnier 38, Rudolphe then started in for a fine run, but by an unfortunate miss cue broke down at 6, leaving the bails in the most favorable position for his opponent, who, with little trouble, made them yield him an addition of 11 to his string of buttons. Rudolphe answered with 14, and in the seventh inning Garnier made the same number, and the markers showed 80 for Rudolphe and 65 for Garnier. In the attempt at a massé shot in the ninth inning much amusement was created by the eccentric Rudolphe. Any other player would have taken the bridge and executed the shot in the simple and asse, and a massé ne managed at last to effect, although it was some time before he could so dispose of his body as to leave one foot on the floor. He closed the inning with 21, and was now
